Every day we have is a gift from the Lord. What occurred on Utah Valley University's campus today is a sobering reminder of that.

Charlie Kirk was a bold truth-teller, brother in Christ, and friend. What he contributed to our culture, our country, and God's Kingdom during his life will live on. His words will continue to impact the generations to come.

His voice has been tragically silenced, but God's truth will never be silenced. We will grieve with those who grieve, yet we will walk into the morning with the hope that no matter what takes place in this present age, God's plan will be carried forward.

Thank God for the truth you heard from Charlie and make the determination to carry on his legacy by speaking the truth in boldness, not living in fear.

Please keep his wife Erika and their young children in your prayers. Pray for a supernatural comfort, peace, and guidance that can only come from God.
